Abstract: The selection and configuration of building materials for optimal energy efficiency in a building require some assumptions and models for the thermal behavior of the utilized materials. Although the models for many materials can be considered acceptable for simulation and calculation purposes, the work for modeling the real time behavior of phase change materials is still under development. The data given in this article shows the thermal behavior of a flat roof element with a phase change material (PCM) layer. The temperature and energy given to and taken from the building element are reported. In addition the solid-liquid behavior of the PCM is tracked through images. The resulting thermal behavior of the phase change material is discussed and simulated in [1] A. Tokuç, T. Başaran, S.C. Yesügey, An experimental and numerical investigation on the use of phase change materials in building elements: the case of a flat roof in Istanbul, Build. Energy, vol. 102, 2015, pp. 91-104.

OPENAIRE SERVICES IN A NUTSHELL

1

Planning & Tracking

Reproducibility and transparency require tracking of all outcomes of science and related “context”

2

Publishing & Discovery

Discovery of reproducible science outcomes must find new ways, driven by “scientific intentions” that go beyond the “find articles related to a research topic”

3

Assessing & monitoring

Monitoring quality, impact, and “open scienceness” of science should be a transparent, reproducible process for all, inclusive of research “context”

OpenAIRE Services for RPOs

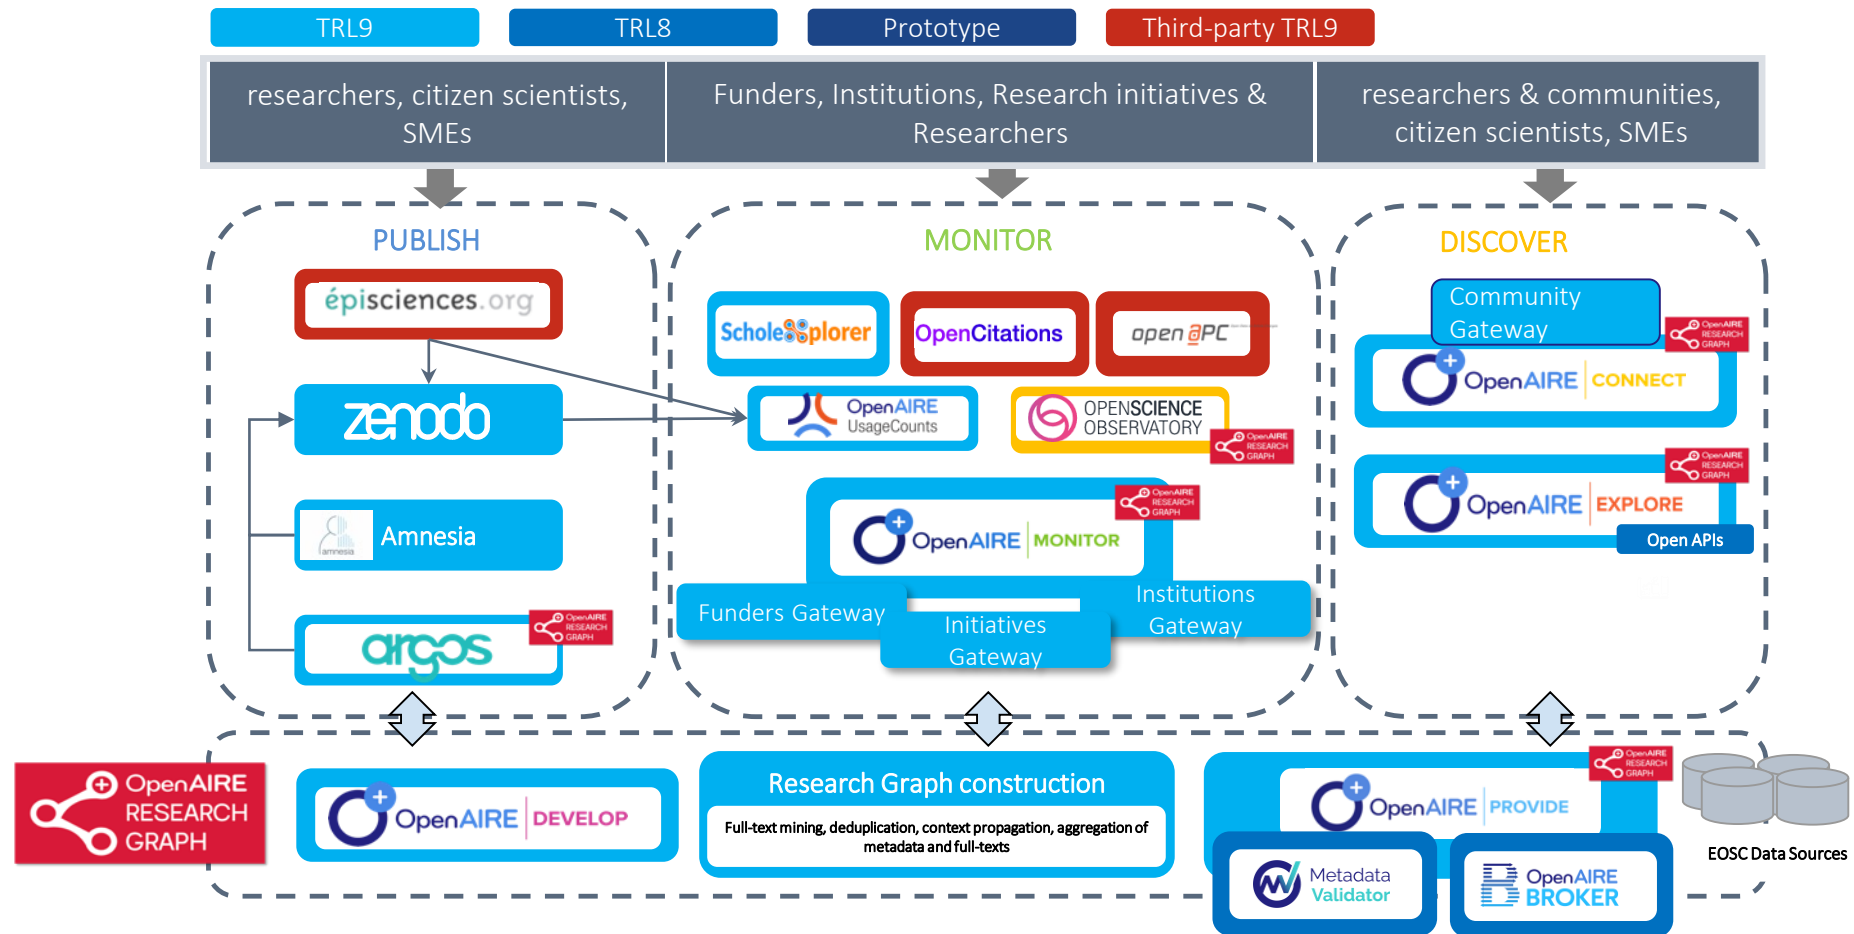

Access to knowledge is fundamental for all, to drive change and create opportunities. Open Science paves the way.

We design, build, set up, run and maintain the OpenAIRE services for you.

Increase Visibility and Impact

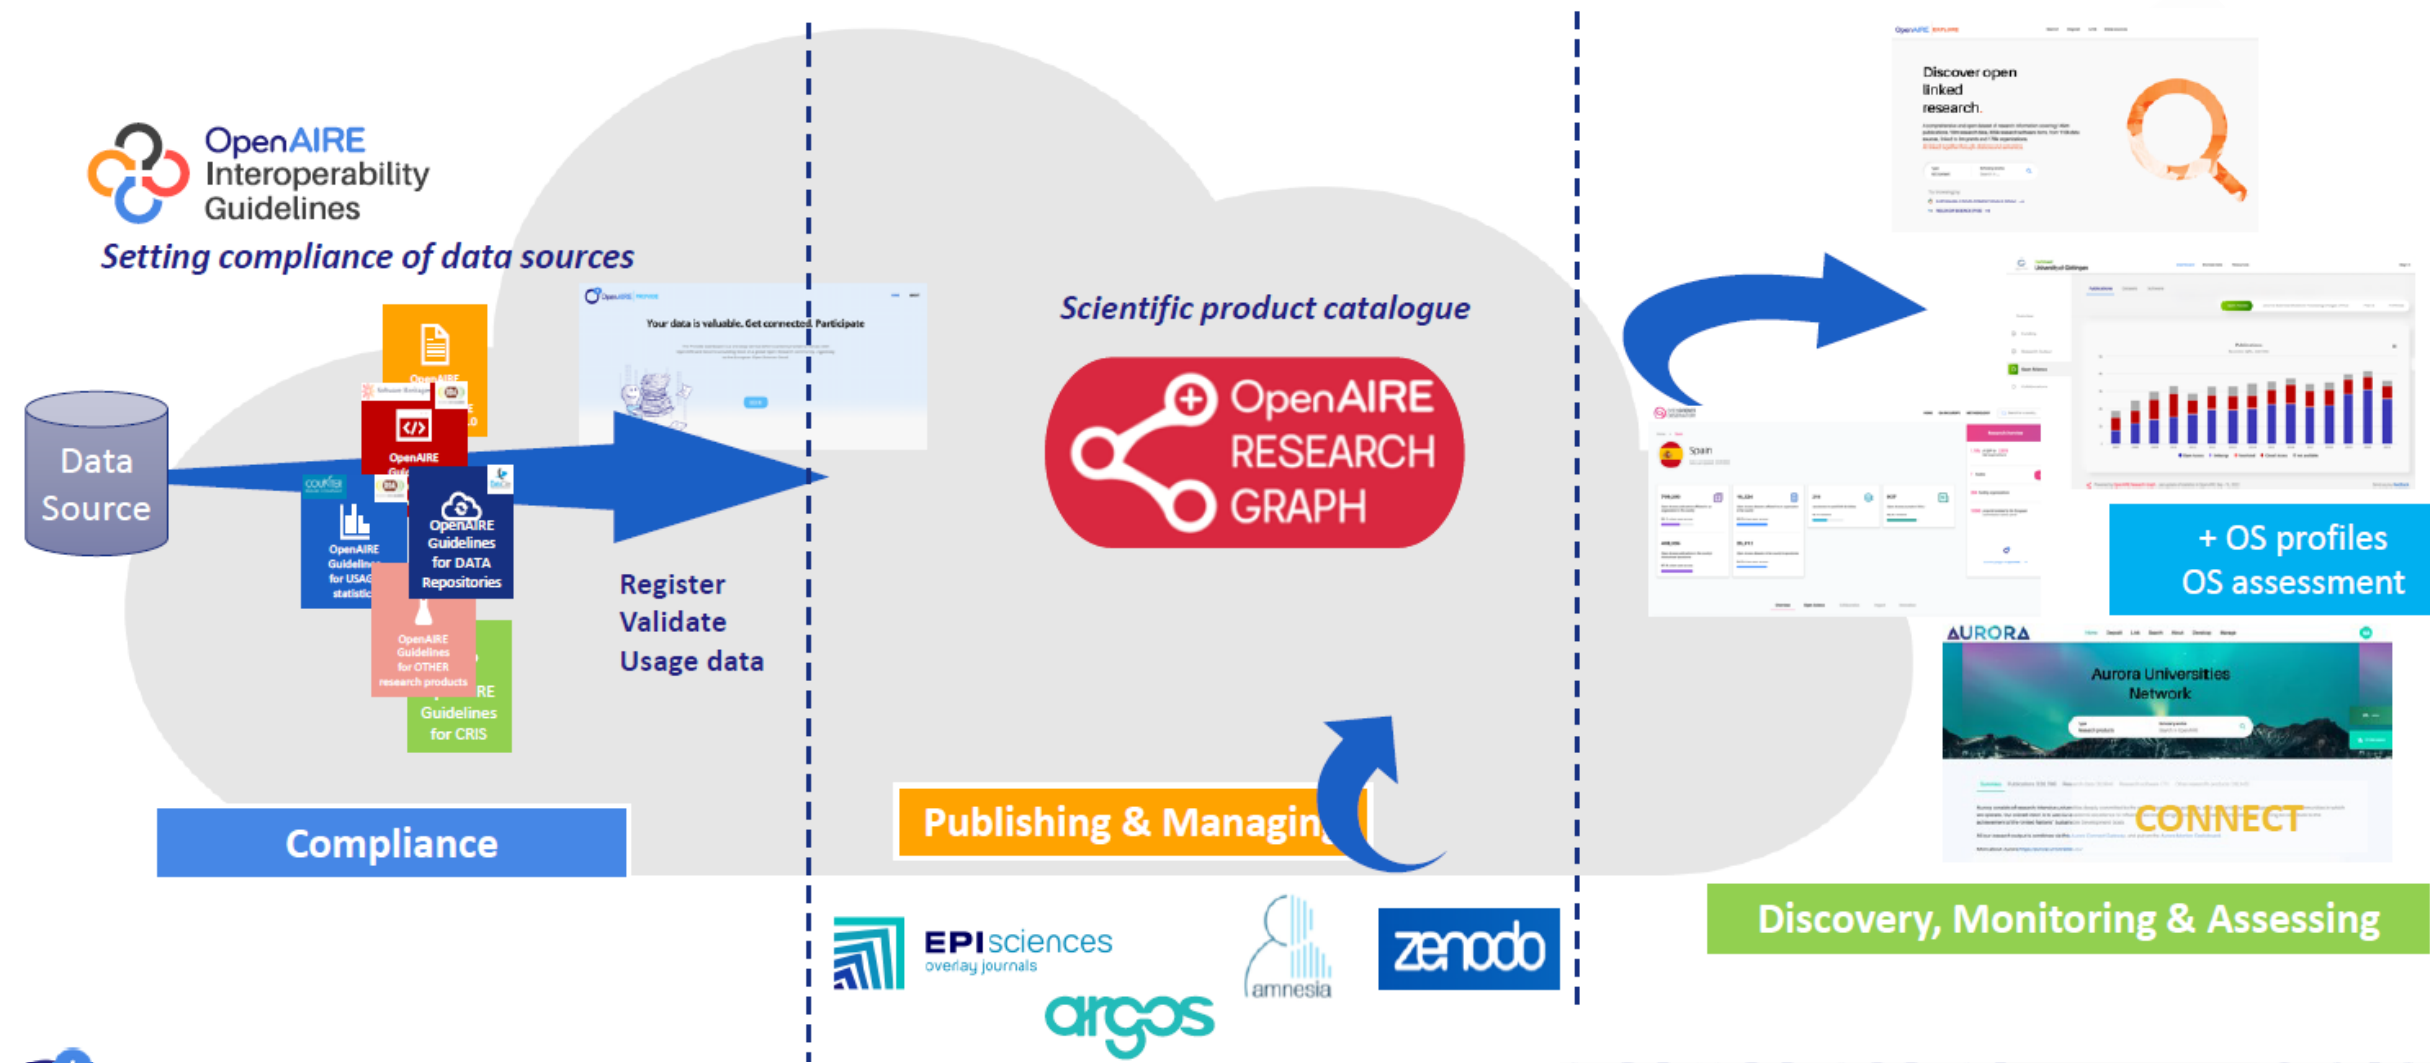

OPENAIRE SERVICES – ALL INTERCONNECTED

Build an Open Research Gateway for your Community

Turn Open Science into practice

Share and link your research results. Across organizations. across borders.

Enhancing discovery with a customised search engine

Create a targeted gateway, configurable to specific content based on

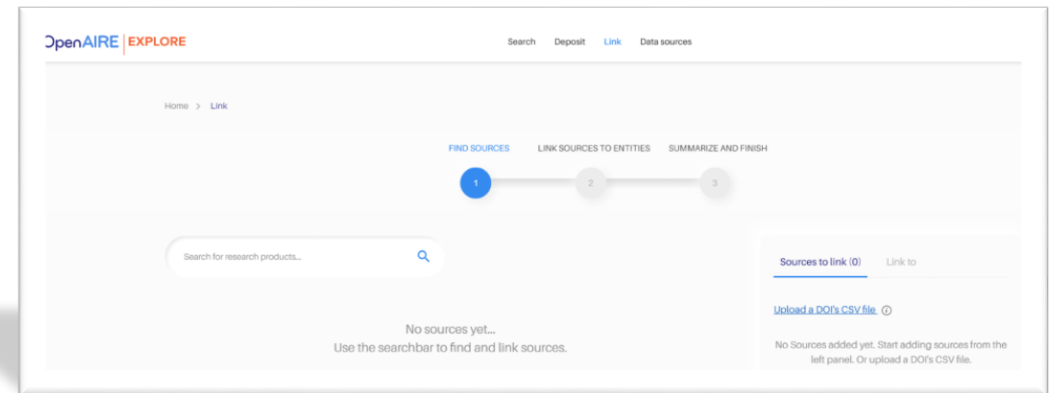

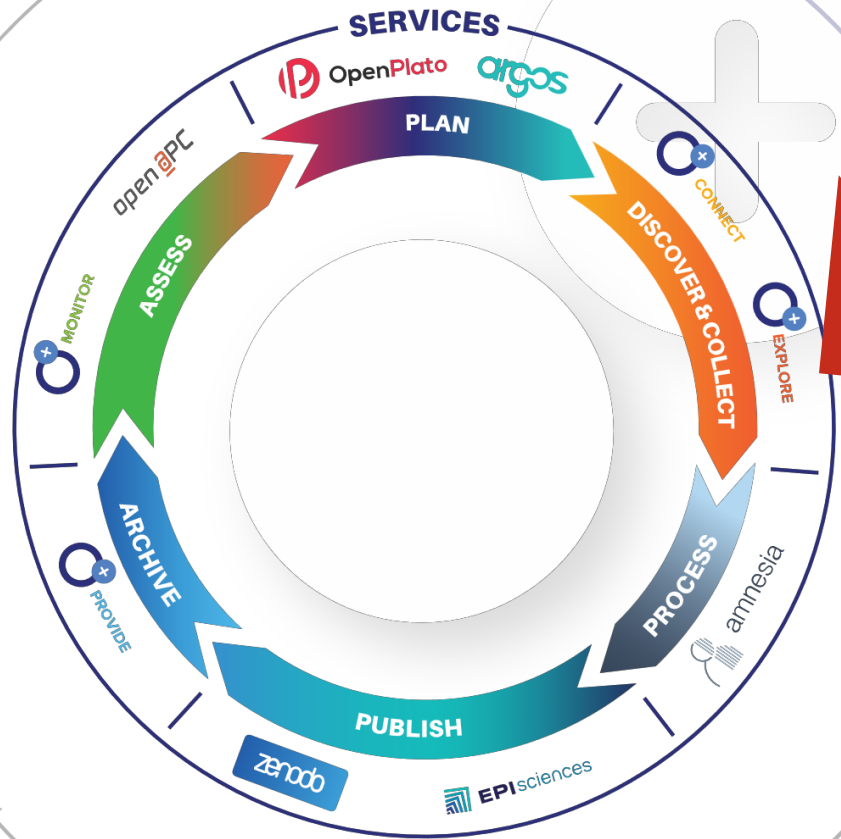

- repositories/journals of choice
- funding data
- enabled by automate selection process

- A secure place for communities to publish their results, in a guided manner, following OS practices
- Useful for University Alliances, to showcase their content under one branding
- Set up in less than one month
